What Do We Owe Veterans?

Tuesday April 23, 2013

Eileen Dombo
PhD, LICSW

began her teaching with NCSSS in 2000. She has over 15 years’ experience in trauma treatment and services to sexual abuse survivors as a direct service practitioner, supervisor, and clinical director. She has provided numerous clinical trainings to prepare clinical social workers for the individual, couples and group treatment with survivors of sexual trauma.

Dr. Dombo’s research interests are in testing clinical models of practice; exploring effective therapeutic intervention techniques for social workers in trauma treatment; and exploring the links between trauma work and vicarious trauma. She is the former Clinical Director of the DC Rape Crisis Center in Washington, D.C.

Christopher Morris PhD

is Professor of Philosophy and Chair of the Department at the University of Maryland, College Park. He is also a faculty member of the Committee on Politics, Philosophy, and Public Affairs. His interests are in moral and political philosophy, practical ethics, legal theory, and the theory of practical rationality.

Some of his current research develops the implications of his book An Essay on the Modern State for international affairs and world order and, in particular, legitimacy. Other topics include justice and reasons for action and a number of questions about moral standing.

CSM (Ret.) Roger Parker, Jr.

served in the U.S. Army for 30 years and was stationed in Korea, Afghanistan, and throughout military bases in the United States. He received numerous awards and decorations including the Defense Meritorious Service Medal, Joint Service Commendation Medal, Army Commendation Medal, National Defense Service Medal (first bronze star), Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal, Global War on Terrorism Service Medal, Noncommissioned Officers Professional Development Ribbon, Drill Sergeant Badge, the Parachutist Bade, and the Air Assault Badge.

CSM Parker has three children, two of whom have served or are serving in the military, and five grandchildren. He is now pursuing a degree in health and fitness.